DETAILED ACTION

Allowed Subject Matter

- 1. Claims 1-5, 8, 15-19, 22 and 28-34 are allowed because no prior art anticipates or suggests, in a time-series data processing device, a data processing means for generating a data list which indicates, in time series, a temporal transition of a position and a state of an object picked up by a pick-up means (claims 1, 15 and 28); or, in the absence of Tunli (U.S. Pat. No. 6,545,689), a common instruction entering level for performing a plurality of different kinds of analyses or a main instruction entering level to be utilized commonly for said plurality of different kinds of analyses (claims 8 and 22).
- 2. Nor does prior art anticipate or suggest claim 37, which discloses, in a time-series data processing device, an interface means, in which said interface means is capable of enabling a display means to display simultaneously an animation based on data converted into said predetermined form in accordance with the play list, and an image of a sports game based on said image data corresponding to said animation.
- 3. Nor does any prior art anticipate or suggest claims 35-36 and 38-40, the interface means including the function of displaying a list of all plays of an opponent's team in a sports game in accordance with said play list, and of retrieving a desirable play seen at said sports game by designating an optional item of said play list (claims 35 and 38).
- 4. Claims 2-5 are allowed because they depend on claim 1. Claims 9-11 are allowed because they depend on claim 8. Claims 16-19 are allowed because they depend on claim 15. Claims 23 and 24 are allowed because they depend on claim 22. Claims 29-34 are allowed because they depend on claim 36 is allowed because it depends on claim 35. Claims 39 and 40 are allowed because they depend on claim 38.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 102(b) which forms the basis for all novelty rejections set forth in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless—

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 6. Claims 6-7 and 20-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tamir et al. ("Tamir", U.S. Pat. No. 5,923,365).
- 7. Tamir, in disclosing a sports event video manipulating system for highlighting movement, also discloses, with respect to claim 6,
 - data processing means for generating an image data by image-picking up a sports game, for processing said image data generated in accordance with a predetermined format and for storing said data processed in said predetermined format
 (Abstract; predetermined format is digitized video, and data is stored in digital memory storing device 40, FIG.1);
 - interface means (light pen 60, FIG.1) connected to said data processing means (host computer 30, FIG.1),
 - and having an instruction entering means capable of entering a plurality of instructions for inputting said data processed in said predetermined format that is stored in said data processing means

Art Unit: 2671

(Video cassette (VC) or video disc (VD) input is remotely controlled by the computer screen, which represents the "data processing means"; see col.7, ll.32-33. The existence of the "instruction entering means" is implied by the ability to enter such instructions as "fast forward"; see col.7, ll.33-37. The clause inputting said data processed in said predetermined format can be interpreted in at least two ways; if the applicants mean that data is input in a predetermined format, then it is inherent that a video cassette or disc input would have to be in a predetermined format. If the applicants mean that data is input and later processed in a predetermined format, then Tamir discloses converting input data into a predetermined format by digitizing a grabbed video field (Abstract));

- and for converting said data inputted into a predetermined form
 (Abstract; video image A/D converter converts grabbed video field to a digitized element),
- and for outputting said data converted, in accordance with said instruction entered by said instruction entering means;
 (The instructions in col.7, 11.33-37 apply to video input. Video is a medium which implies the use of the sense of sight. It is therefore implied that some output medium exists that the user would need to use to see the results of such instructions as fast search backwards.)
- o and image displaying means connected to said interface means for inputting said data outputted from said interface means (light pen 60, FIG.1) and for displaying said data inputted on a screen (video display monitor, Abstract).
- 8. Concerning claim 7, Tamir discloses a data processing means
 - o configured to display synchronously on said display means each corresponding image by linking an image of said object, which is image-picked up by said image-pick up means, if necessary, in accordance with said data list generated (at least a., b. and c. of data list refers to images of object players and ball, which are displayed synchronously (Webster's: "at the same time"); see col.13, ll.44-63),
 - when said display means displays said image of said object animated by animating means (col.13, ll.61-63; the image of the object is the Tamir "still image" (l.61)).

Art Unit: 2671

9. Claims 20 and 21 are identical to claims 6 and 7 respectively except that claim 6 discloses an apparatus and claim 20 discloses a method. However, since it is inherent that an apparatus such as the one disclosed in claim 6 would have to have also disclosed a method to make the apparatus work, claims 20 and 21 are rejected in addition to claims 6 and 7.

10. Therefore, in view of the foregoing, claims 6-7 and 20-21 are rejected as being anticipated under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) by Tamir.

Response to Remarks

- 11. In this Office action, claims 12-14 and 25-27 have been treated as though they have been cancelled, even though they are still listed as "Currently Amended" in the Listing of Claims, and all references to Tunli have been removed pursuant to the applicants' affidavit filed under 37 CFR 1.131.
- 12. The applicants assert that Tamir does not disclose the new element added to claims 6 and 20, "wherein said predetermined form comprises at least one of a chart, a numerical list, an image and a video." However, Tamir discloses video disc input, which qualifies both as video and as a series of images. Therefore all elements of claims 6 and 20 are disclosed by Tamir.
